

ABSTRACT

A method for multiple memory aliasing for a configurable system-on-a-chip, including executing code from an internal memory, locating a configuration program in the internal memory, disabling the internal memory alias, and jumping to a secondary initialization routine, is disclosed.

5

09746815-122200